

Bodegas Gutiérrez Colosía, Spain

Bodegas Gutiérrez Colosía is the only bodega in Puerto de Santa María situated alongside the riverside ensuring the perfect humidity level needed for the biological ageing of the “Fino” and the developing of the fine layer of yeast - “en flor”.

The range is reliably high quality, individual and authentic - owners, Juan Carlos and his wife Carmen produce 100% natural wines from the traditional crianza-solera method.

Viticulture

The grapes for Colosía's wines come from areas around Jerez, with the vineyards being planted on very special soil called “Albariza”. The soil produces outstanding vines perfect for the production of sherry.

Winemaking

The quality of the Gutiérrez Colosía wines is guaranteed by careful ageing through a process known as “criaderas y soleras” in line with the region's tradition. It is a dynamic system by the so called, “corrimiento de escalas” (or running up the scales) with wines from different crops which guarantees the quality of the sherry wines.
