

Bodegas Gutiérrez Colosia, Amontillado, DO Jerez, Spain, N/V

Product code: 9331

PRODUCER PROFILE

Bodegas Gutiérrez Colosia is a family bodega in the heart of the Jerez region, in the town of María that is situated along the coast, where the sea breeze imparts a particular personality to the wine. The bodega is run by Carlos Gutiérrez, who has spent his entire life perfecting the quality levels of the wine. He is a true expert in the field of fine wine, with a special focus on yeast - 'levadura' - that plays a critical role in the traditional 'solera-solera' method of making sherry.

The grapes for Colosia's wine are grown in an area around Jerez where the vineyards are planted on very special soil called 'barroca'. The soil produces a wine that is perfect for the production of Amontillado.

WINEMAKING

Made by means of biological ageing (action of flor yeast). The proximity of the winery to the sea breeze imparts a particular personality to the wine.

TASTING NOTE

Dark golden in colour, obtained by using both types of ageing. During the first three years it is a fino and after that it starts the oxidation process for at least five years. Dry with a yeasty, nutty aroma and a clean, dry finish.
