

Jean Baptiste Jessiaume, Beaune Blanc, Clos de Lulune, Côte de Beaune, Burgundy, France, 2022

Producer Profile

Charmingly located amidst the picturesque rolling hills of Santenay, in the Côte de Beaune, lies Domaine Jean-Baptiste Jessiaume, a timeless testament to the artistry of winemaking.

This family-owned estate, steeped in tradition and innovation, has been crafting exceptional wines for generations, passing down the passion and expertise of its winemakers through the years. The Jessiaume family's roots in Santenay date back to 1830. Today, the sixth generation of the family, led by Jean Baptiste Jessiaume, continues to uphold the estate's legacy of producing high-quality Burgundy wines. With a deep connection to the land and a commitment to sustainable and environmentally friendly practices, Jean Baptiste is dedicated to creating wines that not only reflect the unique terroir of the region but also express the rich history and traditions of Burgundy.

Viticulture

The estate owns vineyard in various appellations, including Pommard, Saint-Aubin, Beaune, Saint-Romain, and Bourgogne autes-Côtes de Beaune. These vineyards, spanning a total of 12.5 hectares, are characterised by their diverse terroirs. The slopes range from gentle inclines to steeper hillsides, with varying altitudes and exposures. The soil profiles include limestone, clay-limestone, and marl, each contributing unique characteristics to the wines. The vines are primarily planted with Pinot Noir and Chardonnay and are predominantly mature and well-established. They are typically trained on traditional trellising Guyot or Cordon systems, producing a range of cuvées, each reflecting the uniqueness of its terroir of origin. These wines are renowned for their elegance, complexity, and ability to age gracefully. The estate minimises the use of chemical inputs, promotes biodiversity, and employs organic or biodynamic farming methods whenever possible.
